DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 34-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 34 is depending to itself.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-11, 18-32, 39-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. patent number 6,283,348 (Wang).

Regarding claims 1, 2, 6, 7, 18, 20-23, 39, 42-54, Wang discloses a clip mount for a cellular phone attachment system with a button mount (figures 2, 3 item 2), said clip mount comprising: a body (11) defining a complementary locking cavity (112) for said button; a resilient locking tongue (113) disposed in said complementary locking cavity adapted to bias said button into a locking position in said locking cavity, said resilient locking tongue having at least one cam surface; and a movable cam actuator (117) movably mounted on said body and having at least one cam actuator surface coacting with said at least one cam surface wherein, in a first position of said cam and cam actuator surfaces, said resilient locking tongue is adapted to bias said button into said locking position in said locking cavity and, in a second position, said cam actuator surface acting on said cam surface flexes said resilient locking tongue out of said locking position thereby adapted to release said button.

Regarding claims 3, 24, Wang also shows said body is generally rectangular and said cam actuator is elongated and moves longitudinally in said rectangular body (see figures 2, 3).

Regarding claims 4, 5, 10, 25-28 and 31, Wang further shows wherein said body defines a channel therein for said cam actuator, said cam actuator moving within said channel (see figure 2).

Regarding claims 8-10, 29-31 and 41, Wang also shows wherein said cam actuator is U-shaped having a base and two legs extending from the base, said user actuation surface being defined on said base of said U-shaped cam actuator and at least one of legs defining said cam actuation surface; wherein said cam surface and said cam actuator surface have complementary sloped surfaces; and wherein channel is channel cavity and said body defines leg channels complementary to said legs of said cam actuator in said channel cavity, said legs of said cam actuator move within said complementary leg channels (see figure 2, item 117).

Regarding claims 11, 19, 32 and 40, Wang further discloses wherein said resilient member is a spring (1151).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 12-17 and 33 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
